MISHAWAKA WINS FROM ELKHART BY SCORE OF 14 TO 7

Maroon-White Team Wrests Victory From Apparent Defeat at Dodge Field.

BY HAROLD KENNEDY.

Mishawaka High defeated Elkhart yesterday at Dodge field to the tune of 14 to 7 at the end of a spectacular and exciting game. The game was near a tragedy in the first half and a wonder come-back in the second half.

It was the second home game for Mishawaka and their first victory. The Elkhart eleven got the jump on them in the first half and secured their touchdown in the second quarter. The Mishawakas did not let the visitors trample over them for it was not that kind of a tragedy. They fought, but their fighting did not seem to get them any place. Then in the second half it was a story. First, Edmond Lambotte entered the game as fullback and the team gained new life. They went down the field determined to win and taking advantage of an enemy fumble, secured their first touchdown tying the score.

Smash after smash through the Blue and White line and the completing of several passes put the ball over the line for the second touchdown only two minutes before the final whistle.

Elkhart Fights.

Elkhart also fought to the last whistle. Every yard gained by the Maroon and White eleven was earned. They did not break through the Elkhart line for big gains but the plunges of the Maroon and White backfield had its effect on the Blue and White line. The last minute of play saw the Elkhart line waver and crumble, and if the fracas would have lasted many minutes more the Mishawaka team might have increased the score.

Mishawaka's weakness was the failure to catch forward passes. Only three passes were completed by them during the entire game. Mishawaka's first touchdown came in the third half. The Maroon and White lost the ball under the shadow of the Elkhart goal post. The Blue and White punter fumbled the ball back of the line and a Maroon and White lad fell on it for a touchdown. The second marker came in the fourth quarter. After an exchange of punts a Mishawakan caught a forward pass and carried the ball to the ten yard line. In four big line plunges the ball was carried across for the winning score.

The defeat of Elkhart leaves High school football fans more hopeful of the outcome of the Emerson-Mishawaka game next Saturday. Emerson of Gary is said to be champs of the Northern Indiana section. A victory over them will give Mishawaka the right to claim the cup presented by the Purdue-South Bend club.

The game ended with the ball in the possession of the Maroon and White team on Elkhart's fifty yard line. The lineup is as follows:

HIGH SCHOOL IS WINNER IN FREAK PRELIM CONFLICT

Jefferson Offers No Resistance and Edwards' Men Pile Up 78 to 0 Score.

In a marvelous exhibition of honest to goodness football, Capt. Edwards and his stalwart varsity football squad defeated Jefferson High of Lafayette by a score of 78 to 0, before the mammoth home coming crowd. When asked about the game next Saturday the stellar half back, Capt. Edwards, said the Hammond aggregation would be given the same decisive kind of trouncing as the Jeffersonites received. At no stage in the entire game was Varsity required to use his toe to boot the ball out of danger while the down states were forced to punt innumerable times.

Strickler received a dislocated elbow when he spilled Hollick, and another Jeffersonite fell on the arm. This injury will probably keep Strickler out of the game next Saturday and practice this week. Nykos, utility man, replaced him at the pivot position and played a creditable game considering the amount of experience he has had there.

Capt. Edwards, Buntman and Matt Butch were individual stars and Haas, Scheer, Strauss, Voedisch and Kintz played stellar games in the line. Art Scheer amused fans when kicking goals by booting the ball completely over the bleachers and into the field beyond each time. At the start of the second half Coach Buntman took out some of the regulars but put them back in the last half.

The game play by play follows: Strickler kicked off. Timmons was downed in his tracks. South Bend recovered fumble. Butch hit line twice for a total of 20 yards. Capt. Edwards circled right end for touchdown. Scheer kicked goal. Strickler kicked off. Hollick was thrown for a loss by Matt Butch. Lafayette's ball on her 40 yard line. Denhardt went 5 yards when tackled by Capt. Edwards. Ball recovered by South Bend on fumble. Strickler went 45 yards for a touchdown. Scheer missed goal. Matt Butch went through center for 10 yards. Buntman went 20 yards. Buntman went through center for touchdown. Scheer kicked goal. Denhardt kicked off and Capt. Edwards was downed almost in his tracks. Quarter ended with ball on South Bend 20 yard line. Buntman attempted a pass to Baker but failed. Matt Butch went 25 yards around left end. Buntman went 15 yards around right end. Capt. Edwards went 5 yards through left tackle. Mickey circled left end for touchdown. Scheer kicked goal. Denhardt tried pass to Baker but failed. Denhardt to Matt Butch intercepted and went 50 yards for a touchdown. Finley substituted for Strauss. Strauss for Matt Butch. Haas intercepted pass and goes 20 yards for touchdown. Scheer kicked goal.

Lafayette forced to punt again. Ollie recovered fumble and went 40 yards for touchdown. Scheer kicked goal. Strickler received a badly dislocated elbow. Vargo substituted Nykos at tackle. Nykos takes place of Strickler at quarterback. Nykos went 5 yards through center. Butch circled around left end for 5 yards. Edwards plunged for 5 yards. Ball was on Lafayette 10 yard line when final whistle blew.

Cornhuskers Suffer Initial Defeat of Season at Hands Of Valiant Fighting Irish

Nebraskans Struggle Gamely But Are Overpowered by Notre Dame.

Struggling valiantly against the onslaughts of Rockne's powerful team, the Cornhuskers of Nebraska were defeated yesterday 7-0. The defense put up by the westerners was a thing of wonder. In the first quarter they held the Rockers to four downs on the one-yard line. After Notre Dame had again swept down the field and placed the ball within their five-yard mark, the Nebraskans fought like demons, but after turning back the "Irish" on three downs, finally weakened under the battering of the opposing line, and allowed Mohardt to slip through for a touchdown. It was the only scoring done during the game. Time after time the fighting Irish carried the ball within striking distance of Nebraska's goal; but on each occasion the Cornhuskers tightened and held when a gain of a few yards would have meant another touchdown.

Dawsonites Helpless. Coach Dawson's men themselves, however, never had a chance to score. Rockne's troupe tumbled the scarlet jerseyed fellows right and left, and although Dewitz and Noble broke through the line on several occasions, the Rockers' secondary defenses always scuttled them. Nebraska exhibited a powerful defense—that is shown by the fact that they held the Rockers to as little scoring as did Iowa—but their vaunted backfield was unable to penetrate the Notre Dame defense. Dawson's favorite shifts failed to puzzle the Blue and Gold, and his passing attack was completely broken up.

It is impossible to select a man from the Rocker line who might be called the outstanding star of the game. Every man performed brilliantly—in fact if we were forced to pick an All-American line, we should rest satisfied with naming the members of the Notre Dame squad from end to end. Hunk Anderson was especially active in keeping the spectators on their toes—he was continually appearing in the most unexpected places to recover a fumble, intercept a forward pass or smear a Nebraska back yards behind the line of scrimmage. Buck Shaw broke through the heavy Cornhusker line time and again to down a runner for a loss; and Eddie Anderson was setting down under Castner's punts so speedily that the Nebraskans never returned a kick more than four yards.

Backfield Not at Best.

The Rocker backfield, however, did not perform so splendidly as did their mates in the line. It seemed to lack the drive and power that characterized its playing in previous games; and appeared to have gone stale. One notable exception must be made to this, however, for Chet Wynne's exhibition was one of the most brilliant seen on Cartier field in years. Chet was the life of the team; he made the first touchdown possible by catching a weak punt of Lewellen's and running it to the Nebraska 7-yard line, and not only was he good for six yards every time he carried the ball, but he was the pillar of Rockne's secondary defense, and his presence was the most encouraging thing in the Notre Dame backfield. He was the embodiment of pep and enthusiasm, but the same can hardly be said for his mates. Castner performed in fine fashion, but as a whole the backfield was a disappointment. The most plausible explanation that can be advanced is that Rockne's backs have gone stale.

The crowd which witnessed this battle was easily the largest ever assembled on Cartier Field; over 20,000 persons occupying the stands. The weather was ideal, from the point of view of both spectator and player. About 2:29 the Notre Dame squad trotted upon the field and was given a tremendous ovation from the student stands. After running signals up and down the length of the field, the men adjourned to the sidelines and Nebraska came on. The Cornhuskers were arrayed in the brightest red jerseys and carried blankets to match. Both teams seemed to be confident of victory.

The Game Is On.

Promptly at 2:30 at the game began Notre Dame got the jump on Nebraska from the first, and her superiority was manifest. The Notre Dame forwards, outweighed 15 pounds to the man, were playing their heavier opponents off their feet. Nebraska's offense was completely crushed, and after an interchange of punts, the Rockers carried the ball to Nebraska's one yard line. The Notre Dame backfield lacked the punch necessary to make the touchdown, however, and Nebraska intercepted a pass for a touchdown. The ball was put in play on the 30-yard line and the Rockers had lost their first chance to score. Shortly afterwards, however, a poor kick by Lewellen gave Notre Dame her chance, and Johnny Mohardt took the ball across the line. Buck Shaw kicked a goal.

Notre Dame attempted several forward passes throughout the final quarters but very few were successful. Nebraska had almost a perfect system of defense for the Rocker pass formation. Captain Swanson knocked down several passes. On the other hand, Nebraska's passes failed completely. In fact the Notre Dame team caught more passes from the Cornhuskers than they did from Mohardt.

Castner's punting was far superior to Lewellen's, although the Rocker system of handling enemy punts lost them this advantage. The Notre Dame backs were playing safe, and allowed Lewellen's punts to roll over the goal line on each occasion. Castner's drop kicking was beautiful. The wind was too strong for him, however, and several pretty kicks were carried out of the way by the wind. Once Paul dropped one from the 50-yard line which carried far enough, but which was blown to the east of the cross bar.

ANOTHER STATEMENT PROVED.

Roger Kiley and Eddie Anderson were recently termed by Grantland Rice the "finest pair of ends in the country." Follow-up of Notre Dame football however, long ago realized what Rice has just expressed. Kiley is the nearest catcher of forward passes to be found, and Eddie—well Eddie is the captain of one of the greatest teams Notre Dame has ever developed. Needless to say, the captaincy was offered him because of his all around ability. His speed in getting down under punts is marveled over by sport writers in every game that the Rockers play.

HONOR GIPP

During the intermission between halves a tribute was paid to the memory of George Gipp, favorite and honored son of Notre Dame. Coach Rockne led his team to the center of the field. A bugler blew taps and the great throng stood with bare heads, in reverence and a fitting tribute to his memory.
